

Luke Breitfeller

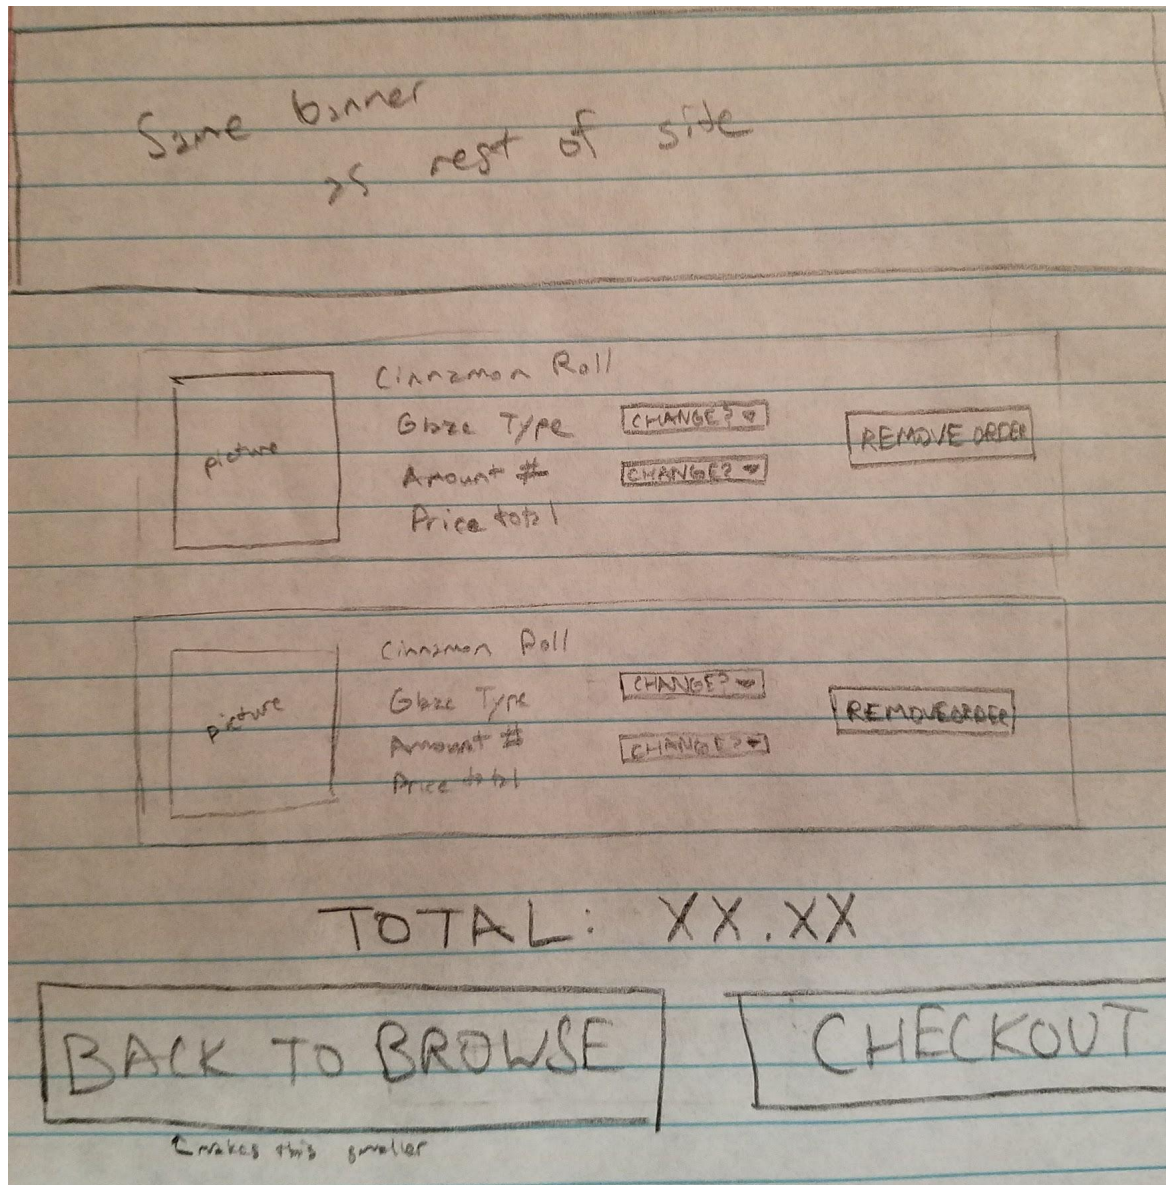

Assignment 6A Low-Fi Prototype

View Cart prototypes:

Cart when empty.

Cart when full on next page.

I wanted my prototype to make it very visually clear when the cart was empty, hence the specific message that displays when no items have been selected. The user also cannot choose to checkout unless there is at least one item in the cart.

Aesthetically, the color scheme and general structure are similar to the product display page, so the entire site has a unified design, but where the purpose of the product browse page is to help the user see more items at one time here the user is going to be focused on each item in their cart individually, so each row is devoted to a single item.